June 9, 2011, 7:00 to 8:30 PM

Where: Floortime Atlanta
The Blackstone Centre
1777 NE Expressway Suite 175
Atlanta, Georgia 30329

Fee: $15.00 per couple

Pre-Registration is strongly suggested prior to the date. There will be on-site registration but once full, we will have to close the meeting to on-site registration.

This will be a 90 minute overview of DIR/Floortime and its philosophy and utility in treating children with difficulties relating and communicating. This is a developmental and relationship-based approach that is increasingly used by parents, therapists and schools who serve children with a wide range of developmental difficulties including autistic spectrum disorders. The presentation will include a description of the model, videotape illustrations, and Q + A.

We hope you can join the clinicians at Floortime Atlanta for this event.

*Floortime Atlanta serves children with social, emotional, communicative, developmental and learning challenges, including autistic spectrum disorders such as Autism and Asperger's Disorder. We also work with parent and entire families to help them to better understand their children, and to address the range of emotional and practical challenges they face in helping their children develop.
