Announcing the formation of an ongoing parent psychotherapy group for parents of children with special needs. The group is designed to offer support to parents of special needs children and to address the inherent parenting challenges through support, information and networking.

We are asking for a commitment of six months participation. The group is open to one or both parents. In order to preserve the integrity of the group we ask that only those who have registered and paid attend. Attendance must be consistently the designated attendee.

Group will be limited to 5 – 8 people.

Co led by:

Kathleen Platzman, PhD

Dr. Platzman is a Licensed Psychologist who focuses on both assessment and treatment of infants and children with a wide range of developmental disabilities. She specializes in working with individuals with autistic spectrum disorders and their families. Services offered include infant and child assessment, child and family psychotherapy, treatment planning, consultation to families and schools. She is a member of the national DIR® Institute Faculty and on the boards of the Frazer Center and Hirsch Academy.

Jo Raphael, LCSW

Ms. Raphael is a licensed clinical social worker with a diplomate in social work. She is a DIR® Clinician and serves on the national faculty of the DIR® Institute. Jo works with children, adolescents and families providing treatment, consultation and supervision utilizing DIR®. She is the Editor of the ICDL Newsletter, a Supervisor for the Play Project®, which is a DIR based autism training and early intervention program.

If you are interested in joining the group please call Ellen Robinson at: (404) 373-8335 and we will set up a time to meet with you to share information and to see if this is an appropriate group for you.
